

Drugs: education, prevention and policy

3. Improvements made in researchers and practitioners, policy makers and other organisations

'The questions that you asked (in the interview schedules) facilitated a really good discussion with a young person. He felt valued and heard...we're redesigning the way we capture evaluation off young people. I found the questions that you asked in your development

Elements of Family Therapy for Adolescents with Drug Use Disorders including in Contact with the Criminal Justice System